SEE NEED TO CONSERVE OIL SUPPLY IN U. S.

Plan Advocated Five Years Ago by Doherty Begins to Meet Favor

NEW LAW IS REQUIRED

Present Waste of Gas Likely to Cut Short Supply for Future Needs

Washington — Sometimes a lone voice reaches nowhere in the cry for reform and sometimes after years of persistent calling it wins to its side those who were skeptical at the outset. Such an evolution has been experienced by Henry L. Doherty, who cried out for oil conservation beginning five years ago only to be told that there was no law to regulate production and no constitutional method of conserving the supply.

Today after years of discussion the federal oil conservation board is meeting with a committee from the American Bar association and the American Petroleum institute to find a way to save the motorist of the future from the hardships of a diminished supply and to protect the American navy against a shortage of fuel for national defense.

Mr. Doherty raised the question in the American Petroleum institute without avail and was opposed at the federal conservation board's hearings by members of the institute and counsel who felt it was not a federal matter. But Mr. Doherty said that where there was a will there was a way and he could not believe the nation was powerless to conserve its supply of oil. His theory then expressed was that for every barrel of oil taken out of the ground more than ten barrels are left in some pools and that a flagrant waste of gas was being made in nearly every field and that more gas energy of each than the entire amount of petroleum recovered. Basically, the idea is that oil beneath the ground should be conserved and that the escaping gases now will make the expense of production in subsequent years excessive. The consumption requirements of oil today are far below the supply and to take oil out of the ground, it is argued, wastes the necessary gases that should be conserved for future production.

But how can conservation be attempted? Each owner of a well must protect himself against his neighbor's drilling or have his well drained by that neighbor. Mr. Doherty suggested unit pool operation.

LAWS NOT SIMILAR

"All our troubles," he says, "spring from the fact that we have been trying to work under different laws from those which govern all other property and unlike any other law except those which pertain to wild birds and wild animals. What has happened to wild birds and wild animals is rapidly happening to our petroleum. Petroleum by our present laws belongs to the one who can capture it. The laws provide that you can rob your neighbor. What can you expect when the law licenses and legalizes robbery?"

"By the unit operation of pools we can recover at least double as much oil as we get under our present system and it is highly probable that we can recover 50 to 60 per cent of all the oil the pool contains."

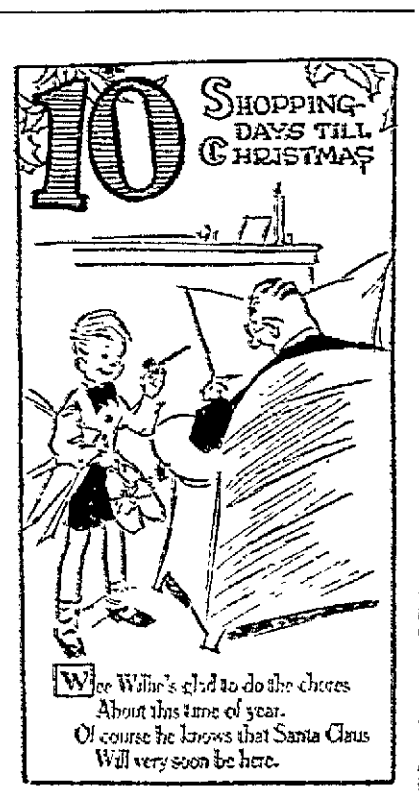

Mr. Doherty's unit plan cannot of course be adopted without modifying existing federal and state laws. He urges that no land shall be drilled until opened by government permit, that a radius be established within 2,000 feet of a well and that development of drill shall be subject to certain regulation and control and that the consent of the landowners shall be obtained from adjacent districts and that proper hearings be held before government officials to adjust disputes.

TEN DAYS LEFT TO JOIN GOOD FELLOWS CLUB THIS WINTER

Good Fellows!

Every day you are reminded in many places that there are only ten shopping days left before Christmas. These reminders should also make you realize that there are only ten days left to join the Good Fellows club which is endeavoring to make poor children happy on Christmas day. Ten days isn't much time to raise more than $2,500 which is required if the goal of $3,000 set by Appleton Welfare council for this annual campaign is to be reached.

This easy opportunity to do a good turn for the unfortunate of your city comes on only once a year and at a time when the good turn is most appreciated by those who benefit from your generosity. This is not an appeal from this newspaper nor is it from the charitable organizations in the Welfare council. It is from the poor themselves. You can answer it by filling in the Good Fellows club membership blank on page 9 of this paper and sending it, with your "membership fee" to the Good Fellows club editor of The Appleton Post-Crescent.

G. O. P. REBELS ARE GIVEN SQUARE DEAL

No Discrimination in Committee Assignments, Majority Leader Says

Washington — (AP) — Simultaneous with house approval Monday of Republican committee assignments, Representative Tulson, the majority leader, announced that the "so-called insurgents, or those who left the party in 1924, were treated the same as other Republicans, being in all cases ranked above new men assigned to the same committees."

He declared that there had been no discrimination "especially in the case" of Representative Nelson of Wisconsin, who had been proposed for the chairmanship of the invalid pensions committee. He contended that failure to select Nelson, who adhered to the La Follette Independent presidential movement, could not be construed as a discrimination, as Representative W. T. Fitzgerald of Ohio, ranked the Wisconsin member on the committee.

Tulson said that "there was no fight whatever" and points out that representative Fear of Wisconsin, who also followed La Follette, was a member of the Republican committee that passed upon other selections.

Representative Browne of Wisconsin, another La Follette supporter, was returned to his chairmanship, while Representative Berger of Wisconsin, the only socialist in congress, was placed on invalid pensions and also civil bills.

SCHULZE SENTENCED TO LIFE IN BADGER PRISON

Milwaukee — (AP) — Fred Schulze's faint hope that he would escape life imprisonment in the state prison at Waupun faded Tuesday when Judge Shaughnessy denied a new trial. Judge Shaughnessy sentenced Schulze, convicted slayer of his wife and a 16-year-old escort, to life imprisonment at hard labor in the state prison.

The 25-year-old former milk driver, formerly of LaCrosse, was convicted by a municipal court jury of first degree murder for the slaying of his wife, Emma, whom he shot to death after efforts to effect a reconciliation proved futile. Sixteen-year-old Gordon Goetzinger, who was accompanying the woman to a bus, when they were arrested by Schulze, paid with his life for his chivalrous act, as he was fatally wounded by the first shot fired by Schulze. Schulze blinded himself in an attempt at suicide after the double slaying.

U. S. FIELD GUNS LANDED AT CANTON

HELP ALIENS LEAVE DANGER ZONE IN CHINA

Armed Launches Carry Americans to Safety—General Strike Threatened

Hankow, China — (AP) — A serious mutiny is reported to have broken out in Lachow in northern Hupeh, about 200 miles northwest of Hankow. The troops there were reported to be looting and burning the city which is on the Han river.

Shanghai — (AP) — The United States gunboat Sacramento has landed field guns at Canton to protect foreigners. The guns were taken to the United States consulate in the Shamen concession district.

The American forces have also aided in evacuating foreigners from the Chinese sections of the city which is controlled by communists who ousted the latest Canton Dictator, General Chang Fak-wei.

Armed launches from the United States gunboat Pampanga were sent to Tungshan, a suburb of Canton, to bring Americans there to safety. Other vessels belonging to the Standard Oil company were also dispatched to aid in the work.

There were signs Tuesday that the communists, successful in Canton, were trying to bring about a general strike. Shanghai itself appears calm, however, although several groups of workers have gone on strike.

RESCUE FOREIGNERS

Fifteen Americans and two British subjects were brought from the Chinese city to Shamen island by armored launches, dispatches direct from Canton stated. The launches belonged to the Standard Oil company and were manned by armed guards.

A general concentration of Canton government troops has taken place in Hoiann, adjacent to Canton. They were believed to be preparing to renew their attack on the communist element in Canton city.

A third United States gunboat, the Asheville, arrived at Canton from Hongkong.

FORM SOVIET REGIME

London — (AP) — A soviet government has been established in Canton by the communists who seized the city, press dispatches stated Tuesday.

MALE STUDENTS ADMIT WRITING "SIS" LETTER

Madison — (AP) — The University of Wisconsin Junior class will hold its promenade in the state capitol Feb. 3, the male students having confessed to Clinton B. Ballard, superintendent of the "Sis" letter, having taken their reprimand "like gentlemen," and having agreed not to attend the annual university function.

The three university students who were brought in by Wilbur Mowson, chairman of the prom and Marvin A. Lehmkuhl, executive editor of the Cardinal, confessed to Mr. Ballard, who had threatened to revoke permission to use the building, that they were authors of the open letter, but said they wrote it to stir up student opinion against drinking at the prom.

Mr. Ballard had Governor Zimmerman, who he said, was invited to the letter, come into the conference. The governor accepted the apology of the three young men graciously. Mr. Ballard said.

ATLANTIC STEAMERS ARE DELAYED BY HEAVY GALE

New York — (AP) — A terrific gale at sea has caused hours' delay in the docking time of nine trans-Atlantic liners here and abroad, damaged one vessel and caused injury to 12 passengers on another.

The cable messages said the Celtic, New York to Liverpool, had arrived at Queenstown after emerging from a gale in which 12 passengers were injured, two of them severely.

The Eckenland came into port two days late with her ship's hull and ventilator saved away from the deck and the deck strewn with wreckage.

CAPTAIN AND HIS CREW STAY ON WRECKED SHIP

Campbell River, B. C. — (AP) — Captain J. Livingston and several members of the crew of the steamer North-western, which was wrecked near here last Sunday when it ran aground during a heavy gale, remained aboard their stranded ship Tuesday and insisted they would stay there until its disposition is determined. The vessel was partly filled with water and both ship and crew, which included Christmas goods for Alaska, may be a total loss.

ECONOMICS EXPERT SEES WAR BETWEEN COUNTRY AND CITY

Cedar Rapids, Ia. — (AP) — Maladjustment in the distribution of the nation's wealth is weakening the basic foundation of the national strength and may lead to a serious struggle between the country and the city, Dr. Henry C. Taylor of the Institute for Research in Land Economics of Northwestern university warned a group of farmers and business men Tuesday.

Dr. Taylor, who was the organizer and first chief of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics, said agricultural suppressions have always had the effect of reducing the industrial success of farmers and that those in authority in the present national administration "seen to be oblivious to the basic economic forces which are in operation and equally oblivious to their effects."

NEW PHILIPPINES GOVERNOR IS NAMED

Stimson Nominated by Coolidge to Succeed Late General Leonard Wood

Washington — (AP) — Henry L. Stimson of New York, was nominated by President Coolidge Tuesday to be governor general of the Philippines. He succeeds the late General Leonard Wood.

E. A. Gilmore, lieutenant governor under General Wood, has been acting governor since the death of the latter. Gilmore is on leave of absence from the university of Wisconsin.

Stimson, who was the president's personal envoy to Nicaragua in the peace negotiations there last spring, was believed to have been the president's first choice for the post. Some time, but the appointment came as a surprise because it was understood that Mr. Stimson did not care to assume responsibilities.

General Leonard Wood died in his country last summer while on leave of absence.

U. S. ASKED TO JOIN HUNT FOR APPLETON GIRL

Man With Whom She Disappeared, Now Held in Jail, Won't Talk About Case

A nation-wide search has been inaugurated by federal, city and county authorities for May Belle Diehl, 27, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Diehl, route 2, Appleton, missing since Sept. 10 when she is alleged to have left her home with Edward Roberts, alias Edward Jackson, Menasha. Roberts and a companion, Ole Mosseng, address unknown, is held in the county jail in Oshkosh while police search for the girl. Roberts, it is said, has a wife and three children at 614 Second-st., Menasha, and a warrant has been issued for his arrest on a charge of desertion.

Roberts and Mosseng were arrested in Salt Lake City, Utah, early in November but there is no indication that the girl was with them at that time. Authorities say they have information that Roberts purchased a quantity of poison shortly before the disappearance of the girl from Menasha.

The help of federal authorities was enlisted by Sigman and Sigman, local attorneys representing the girl's parents, who suggested that action might be started against Roberts under the Mann act when it was learned that the girl and Roberts were together at Kansas City, Mo. It is said the young woman wrote to a local bank from Ogallah, Neb., requesting that money be sent to her. All traces of the young woman was lost in Kansas City.

Repeated questioning of the two men has failed to reveal any information except that they left the girl at Philippi, Utah, about 150 miles from Salt Lake City.

AVOIDED PUBLICITY

Parents of the girl have made every effort to locate her without newspaper publicity. They fear foul play and as a last resort have planned a nation wide publicity campaign.

Roberts, or rather Jackson, as he was known to the Diehl family, was introduced by Edwin Slatts of Menasha, a friend of Miss Diehl's sister. Slatts introduced Roberts as Ed Jackson, and he said he was unmarried. They met about five months ago and for about six weeks after their meeting Jackson was a daily visitor.

Jackson's visits met with no opposition from the girl's parents because they believed he intended to marry the girl. In fact, they say, the proposed marriage was often discussed.

EXPECTED ELOPEMENT

Early on the morning of Sept. 10, Miss Diehl went to Appleton where she spent the morning shopping, returning home at noon with several large bundles. She packed several suit cases and the parents believed that the young couple were planning to elope.

15 MEN ROB FREIGHT OF $50,000 IN RAW SILK

Langhorne, Pa. — (AP) — Raw silk valued at $50,000 was stolen Tuesday when a Reading company freight train was held up near Nesquehanna Falls, near here, by a band of 15 men.

The silk was loaded on the train at Jersey City and was consigned to a Chester firm. Several of the thieves are believed to have concealed themselves in the train before it left Jersey City and applied the air brakes at the appointed place, by severing the air line. George Dancy, the conductor, got out of the caboose when the train stopped in a deserted spot and was met with a fusillade of shots from the robbers.

It is believed by police that confederates and lookout men have been planning Tuesday's robbery for weeks as shipment of the valuable goods was made with the utmost secrecy.

WIDOW LILLIENDAHL IS ANXIOUS TO START TERM

Mays Landing, N. J. — (AP) — Mrs. Margaret Thompson Lilliendaahl is "resigned to her fate" and will force a Christmas party, and dinner with her 5-year-old son at the county jail here in order to start her 10-year prison sentence at the state penitentiary at Trenton.

She had planned the Yuletide observance with her boy, Alfred, under the rubric which allows a prisoner 20 days at the place of trial before being incarcerated in the state prison. A similar desire to have "it over with" was expressed by Wilis Beach, who with the widow was sentenced to 10 years at hard labor after their conviction for voluntary manslaughter in the slaying of the woman's husband, Dr. A. William Lilliendaahl.

U. S. AND HONDURAS SIGN NEW COMMERCIAL TREATY

Washington — (AP) — A new treaty of "friendship, commerce and consular rights" between the United States and Honduras, to replace the treaty of 1914, was signed by the American minister and the Honduran minister of foreign affairs Dec. 7. It is similar in a general way to the commercial treaties with other countries.

Lindbergh Off On Good Will Flight To Mexico

Washington — (AP) — Charles A. Lindbergh sailed away Tuesday in his Spirit of St. Louis, for a nonstop flight to Mexico City, which will take him over 2,000 miles of mountains, plains, and valleys. The young hero of the New York-to-Paris air epic decided the time and weather was right and with our more aid, he announced that he was ready to go on his errand of good will which is expected to require about 26 hours in the air. He took his plane up at 12:29 Tuesday afternoon.

Lindbergh laid his plans quietly for the hop-off, just as he did when he was preparing for the transatlantic flight which brought a thrill to the world. Having no idea of failure, he scorned a parachute, as he did on the solitary trip to France.

He studied his charts, his machine and the weather which he will need, and then quietly told the war department to notify the newspaper world that he was going immediately. An escort was provided by the army, the navy and the commerce departments to follow the famous flier as far as Richmond, Va., and when it was in line, Lindbergh gave the word and they were off to the southward.

It was a murky sky through which the pilots guided their planes and the ground beneath them was sodden from the long and steady rains. Lindbergh was forced to tail the entire distance of the field before he rose, and he seemed to have some difficulty in gaining altitude. The wheels of his plane barely missed the tops of trees at the southern end of the field.

The Spirit of St. Louis failed in two abortive efforts to get into the air, before succeeding in the third attempt. Major Harvey S. Burwell, commander at Bolling Field, with whom Lindbergh had spent the night at the field, said that the daring take-off was one of the most masterful pieces of flying technique that he had ever seen.

Two Cops Are Wounded As Herrin Gang Breaks Peace

Herrin, Ill. — (AP) — A year of peace in Herrin was broken Monday night when an automobile filled with gunmen left behind two wounded police officers.

Elmer McCormick, a patrolman and brother of Mayor Marshall McCormick, was in a critical condition Tuesday from gunshot wounds in his neck and breast and John Stamm, chief of police, was nursing wounds in the shoulder from the rifles of the gunmen, who drove twice around the city hall, firing a volley upon each circuit.

Noted for its seditious outbreaks of plotting and shooting since the mine riots in 1921, Herrin has made consistent efforts in the last year to rid itself of its sanguinary name.

Monday night Mayor McCormick, his brother, and Stamm were standing on the city hall steps when the gunmen's car approached. A volley of shots brought Elmer McCormick down. The car circled the square and Stamm, who had taken refuge in an alley between the city hall and the fire station, received a bullet in the shoulder from the second volley.

Officers could give no motive for the shooting other than that it might have been a flare-up of Ku Klux Klan troubles which have taken a number of lives.

REBUS THREATENS STATE ATTORNEY

Alleged Slayer Voices Hatred for Rival and Finds Fault With Court

Cincinnati, O. — (AP) — Pent up hatred against Franklin L. Dodge, Jr., harsh criticism of Prosecutor Charles P. Taft, II, and a threat to mandamus Judge Chester R. Shook before the state supreme court were voiced Tuesday in a vitriolic 20-minute address by George Remus, former "king of bootleggers" on trial for his life for killing his wife.

Remus summoned forbidden language to voice his hatred of Dodge, the former department of justice agent, turning to young Taft, he called him and his assistants "these novices," and accused them of resorting to "subterranean" advantages in their efforts to convict him. Remus threatened to proceed with contempt charges against Taft.

First, Judge Shook agreed with Taft that Remus had no status as a lawyer in Ohio and could not be heard in the case of the state versus Vernon R. Chumley, federal convict recently indicted for perjury in connection with the Remus case. Then he announced that he would permit Remus to complete the record in the case involving Chumley, who was up for arraignment at Trenton.

Chumley, secretary to Remus, was brought here from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kans., on a writ of habeas corpus to testify for Remus. His indictment grew out of alleged false statements made in deposition for use in the Remus divorce case which was to have been called the morning of last Oct. 6 when Remus shot and killed his wife.

Chief Justice of State Supreme Court Also Facing Impeachment

CORRUPTION IS ALLEGED

Governor Charged With Incompetency and Improper Use of Militia

Oklahoma City, Okla. — (AP) — Bills of impeachment naming Governor Henry S. Johnston and two other state officials were voted early Tuesday at a self-convened executive session of the lower house of the Oklahoma legislature.

The house members assembled in a downtown hotel in the dark hours before dawn while national guardsmen called out by the governor to prevent any meetings of the legislature slept at the state capitol. Many of the legislators summoned from bed wore pajamas and bath robes at the session.

It was a motley appearing group which had assembled when Speaker Hill called the house meeting to order at 5:30 Tuesday morning. The legislators were crowded into three small hotel rooms. Despite the fact that three windows were opened, the air became acrid with tobacco smoke.

There were few chairs. Some of the men sat upon the floor, some on beds. Some wore pajamas, some in bath robes. Others also had on bath robes. Many were in shirt sleeves.

Tom McCombs of Sequoyah-co. read the report of the investigating committee, containing the charge against Governor Johnston, and the report was adopted by an oral vote.

SENATE MUST ACT

Oklahoma City, Okla. — (AP) — An indictment containing six charges against Governor Henry S. Johnston was approved by the state house representatives at a secret session here Tuesday. Representative Charles Moon announced as he emerged from the meeting.

Mr. Moon said that after each charge had been approved, the house voted to consolidate the allegations and present the indictment to the senate which has declared itself qualified to sit as a court of impeachment.

Mr. Moon said the house voted 49 to 6 to charge Governor Johnston with making the military authority supreme over civil authority. He said a recommendation to charge the governor with incompetency carried 49 to 5, and that the house then voted 44 to 9 to charge him with giving a commission as state peace officer to Jose Alvarado, alleged robber.

Representative Moon announced that the house also voted 35 to 21, to charge Chief Justice Fred Branson with "corruption in office."

6—Alleged conspiracy between the governor, his confidential secretary, Mrs. O. O. Hammond, and an unnamed person, in connection with collection of a highway check by a contractor, 45 to 8.

ANOTHER BOMB SET OFF IN CHICAGO LABOR WAR

Chicago — (AP) — The explosion of an other bomb in the campaign of wildcat labor union racketeers against those shopkeepers who defy them was sounded in fashionable Hyde park Monday night. The blast destroyed the De Luxe Shoe Repair shop in the Corner Carleton hotel, and damaged two stores adjoining the entrance to the hotel itself, but injuring no one.

Gust Chas. owner of the shoe shop, told police that Gust St. Louis, president of the Bootblack Protective association, had warned him previously not to continue paying for the De Luxe shoe shop. The reason given was that the association rules prohibited operation in a distance of 50 feet from the De Luxe shoe shop.

A few hours earlier in Bridgeport, a theater was bombed, but police attributed the act to robbery. No one was in the building.

'KEEP EMPLOYED' IS SPEAKER'S TOPIC AT MEETING OF LIONS

Rev. M. S. Weber of Manitowish Declares Idleness Breeding Ground of Trouble

Industrial unemployment may have many drawbacks and may give reason for seeking a remedy but the greatest kind of unemployment is that of the hands and heart, the Rev. M. S. Weber, Manitowish, told Appleton Lions at their regular weekly meeting Monday noon. Mr. Weber is a deputy district governor and was here to attend a meeting of directors of the local club and the district board of governors at which time the district convention next summer was discussed.

There should be no unemployment of the hands, Mr. Weber said, because if one were to look at the house that would be done during spare moments. And if one were to look for a job, one would find there were a few centers that might also be taken care of jobs which would give a live and a reward and incentive.

There is a great deal of talking the speaker said and if one is learning then his mind is not unemployed. Often there are times when some book which a person has read to read might be started and even finished during a period that would otherwise result in time passing unemployed. Literature, games and hobbies are good when the mind is unemployed the Rev. Mr. Weber said.

Probably the worst form of unemployment is unemployment of the heart, the speaker said. Unemployment of the heart is lack of sympathy and emotion. Lincoln Wilson and Jesus Christ were those who showed the real results of unemployment of the heart. The first when he freed the down-trodden, Wilson in his work for peace and Christ in all his teachings as recorded in the old testament. In closing Mr. Weber addressed the speaker asked that the members of the Lions club never permit their hands and heart to become unemployed.

LONSDORF INVITES REPORT OF SLOT MACHINE OWNERS

If there are any slot machines in Outagamie-co. John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney knows nothing of them. Mr. Lonsdorf said Monday he would be glad to get the names of those who are operating machines. "Names of people who operate slot machines should be reported either at my office or at the office of the sheriff and the operators will be arrested," Mr. Lonsdorf said.

The district attorney nearly two months ago ordered all slot machines from the county and Mr. Lonsdorf believes that all operators have complied with the order.

ON TRIAL AGAIN

REBECCA BRADLEY ROGERS

La Grange, Tex.—(AP)—A plea of insanity is offered by counsel defending Mrs. Rebecca Bradley Rogers, 22, former University of Texas co-ed, against charges of robbing a Buda Tex. bank of $1,000. A jury disagreed recently at her trial for arson, at which she was charged with setting fire to a building near the bank to distract attention while she robbed it.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS READY TO OPEN THEIR LIBRARY

A history of the development of the boys department library of the Y. M. C. A., which is sponsored by the Sophomore Triangle club, was prepared by members of the club at the regular meeting Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. A printed matter for the library is completed, it was reported, and the first books were to be issued Tuesday.

The library will be for all boys of the association and it will be open daily after school in the afternoon and in the evening. Members of the club will be appointed librarians for certain periods and at the end of the period new appointments will be made, so that a librarian always will be on duty.

The boys proposed the library, purchased lumber, constructed the shelves themselves and generally promoted the project. Books of all types have been donated by Appleton residents and the boys themselves, but they still need more. They are willing to call for books which local residents desire to donate if a call is left at the boys' department of the association.

COMMISSION WILL HEAR POLICE JOB APPLICANTS

The police and fire commission will meet at 7:30 Wednesday evening at the office of E. A. Schmalz, secretary to set a date for examination of candidates making application for a vacancy in the police department. Several applications are on file with Mr. Schmalz and these will be acted on by the committee and if they are satisfactory the date for examination will be set.

POWER GIVEN CLERK BY COURT DECISION

Final Decision Says Clerks May Issue Search Warrants Same as Judges

Although a recent decision of the Wisconsin supreme court has decided that it is proper for clerks of courts to issue search warrants and perform other duties of a judicial nature when the power has been conferred upon them by the legislature, H. A. Shanon, clerk of municipal court and circuit courts of Outagamie-co said he had never issued a search warrant but would do so if he was called upon.

The supreme court holds that the legislature has the right to empower clerks of the court to perform such duties and that such right is specifically declared on Article VII of the Wisconsin constitution in the section reading:

"The legislature may provide for the appointment of one or more persons in each organized county and may vest in such persons such judicial powers as shall be prescribed by law, provided that said power shall not exceed that of a circuit court at chambers."

The clerk's rights question arose in a prohibition law case where the right of a clerk of the municipal court of Winnebago-co to issue search warrants was challenged. The question was certified to the supreme court by the circuit court of Winnebago-co. The case was against William Van Brocklin, and the question asked if the inquiry necessary to determine whether a warrant should be issued, including as it does, the questioning of witnesses, was not a judicial act which could be performed by the clerk.

The answer settles finally the question of the right of all clerks of court to issue warrants. The opinion in the case was written by Judge Walter C. Owen.

CLAIM FEET FROZEN; GET HOSPITAL BED

Two men, claiming their feet were frozen sought admission to St. Elizabeth hospital about 10 o'clock Monday night. They were admitted by the sister in charge and police were called to investigate. One of the men gave his name as Floyd Richard, 20, Bayfield and the other said his name was Clifford Brasette, 21, no address. An examination showed that Richard's feet were not frozen and he was taken to the police station but Brasette was held for further treatment.

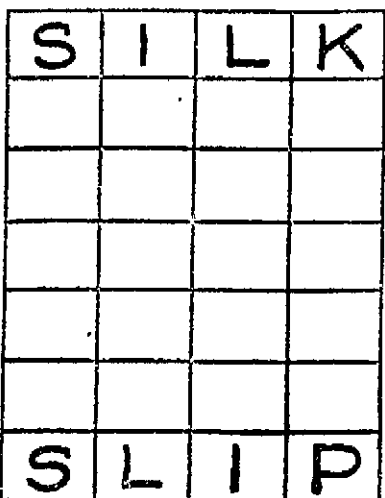

Hospital doctors examined Brasette's feet Tuesday morning and found they were not frozen and he also was to be turned over to the police. Chief George Prim said Tuesday that the young men probably would be turned out and no charges would be placed against them.

Schmalz and these will be acted on by the committee and if they are satisfactory the date for examination will be set.

LETTER GOLF

LADIES PREFER SILK

PAR is six strokes for the change from SILK TO SLIP. If you can make the puzzle editor look foolish or if you can't work it out at all, turn to page 11 and see the par solution.

THE RULES

1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW TO HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

2—You can change only one letter at a time.

3—You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.

4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

COURT REFUSES ANOTHER

TRIAL IN $10,000 SUIT

Judge Fred Beglinger of the circuit court of Calumet-co has denied a motion for retrial in the suit started by the administrator for the estate of Arthur Lawrence, against Howard Campbell, Appleton, owner of Waverly beach, according to word received by A. H. Krugmeier, attorney for the plaintiff. Lawrence, father of the youth who died from a broken neck after diving from a pier at Waverly beach into shallow water, asked $10,000 damages. The accident occurred on July 4, 1926. A jury in the original suit found that Campbell was not liable for damages.

The number 49 occurs frequently in the Bible and is believed to have been held in superstitious veneration by the Jews.

KEEFE WILL SEEK TO OUST LOESCHER

Wholesale Charges Are Expected at Meeting at Neenah Hall Wednesday Night

A wholesale investigation of affairs in Winnebago-co with County Chairman George Loesch, Menasha as the center of attack and contacts for Sunnyview sanatorium providing material for the onslaught, is promised by District Attorney F. B. Keefe of Oshkosh. The "expose" is slated to take place at Neenah Wednesday evening and a large crowd is expected at the city hall where the meeting is to be held.

Mr. Keefe's first action, he announced, would be to demand the resignation of Mr. Loesch as chairman of the county board after which he will attempt to prove that gross irregularities marked the letting of various contracts and the purchase of hardware and plumbing fixtures for the new building. Mr. Loesch is a Menasha hardware merchant.

Data on which the attack is based has been taken from the court house and extended back as far as 1916, Mr. Keefe declares, adding that the investigation may also be directed towards other county officials and that he intends "going clear down the line now that I am started."

It is alleged that many of the bills for materials were on Mr. Loesch's stationery and were written by him and that many checks given in payment for work on the building were indorsed by the hardware merchant after they had been signed by others. The district attorney said it was illegal for a member of the county board to have a pecuniary interest, directly or indirectly, in the purchase

CHURCH CHOIR GIVES CANTATA AND SOLOS

Yuletide Presentation Shown
Here Sunday Was First
Time in State

The new cantata "When the Christ Child Came," by Joseph Clokey, was the outstanding feature of the Christmas music service presented by the Congregational choir under the direction of Carl J. Waterman Sunday evening. The theme of the cantata was old but its presentation new. It was the first time that it had been given in Wisconsin.

The words had a simplicity and a natural quality that was unusual. The music was modern in its release from ordinary progressions but was distinctly melodic. It possessed a constant suggestion of the mystery and the "joy that is good part sadness" which pervades the birth of Christ and its meaning to all men. Two choruses in particular were especially delightful—"While We Twine These Garland" and "It Lighted a Fire on Every Hearth."

The remainder of the musical program was dominated by the Christmas spirit. "Christmas Day," by the choir, was an attractive arrangement of traditional Christmas songs by Gustav Holst. The sparkle of one carol was woven against the intensity of another, these, with a third, the whole using the solo voices and choir ensemble.

J. R. Walsh sang "There's a Song in the Air," and Miss Helen Mueller sang "O Thou That Tellest Good Tidings" by Handel. Carl J. Waterman, tenor, Mrs. Marian Waterman, soprano, and LaVahn Maesch, organist, were the other soloists.

Christmas carols were sung by both audience and choir at the opening of the service, followed by a series of screen reproductions of pictures by Botticelli, Michelangelo, Perugino, Durer and others. Dr. T. E. Penabody interpreted their meanings.

MUST WATCH SEALING OF CHRISTMAS MAIL

Christmas seals and greetings stamps cannot be placed on the face of envelopes according to Fred Felix Wetzel, acting post master at Appleton post office. The postal department has annually warned against the practice but many people forget before Christmas comes around the following year. Seals may be placed only on the back of letters, Mr. Wetzel said. Postal patrons should also refrain from sealing packages with Christmas seals. When the latter practice is followed, postal clerks are required to treat the packages as first class mail which requires considerable more postage than regular parcel post articles.

MAY TRANSFER SKATING RINK TO PIERCE PARK

Due to changes made on the school property at Outagamie and Spencer, it is doubtful if a skating rink will be established there this year. During the fall the grounds were used for an athletic field and the earth embankment which surrounded the rink in former years was removed. Street Commissioner Robert Hackworthy has announced that an attempt will be made to construct a rink with snow as an embankment but should the attempt fail, it is probable another rink will be built in Pierce park.

AUTOMOBILE DEATHS IN WISCONSIN ON DECLINE

Madison (P)—Automobile deaths in Wisconsin in 1926 decreased from 397 in 1925 to 354, a report of the U. S. Department of Commerce shows. The rate per 100,000 of population is 13.2, a decrease of six-tenths during the year. However, at least three of these accidents occurred outside of the state. Florida took high honors with a rate of 39.1, while California, another wintering resort, was a second with 33.9 persons killed per 100,000. South Carolina is low with 10.5.

LIBERTY TREASURER FILES SURETY BOND

H. H. Roloff, treasurer of the town of Liberty, is the third of the towns, village and city treasurers, to file a surety bond with Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer, covering the money he must collect for county taxes. Mr. Roloff's bond was for $6,245.25 or twice the amount of county taxes he must collect. The first bond was filed by the Appleton treasurer and the second by the treasurer of Grand Chute.

NEW RULINGS FOR PERISHABLE MAIL

Certain Articles Must Be Sent Special Delivery if They Arrive on Holiday

Parcels containing perishable matter such as flowers, edibles and the like, received in a post office on Saturday afternoon, Sunday, or a holiday, must be delivered special delivery that day, according to information received here by Fred Felix Wetzel, acting postmaster. If the package is not sent special delivery, it will be delivered as such and charges collected from the addressee.

According to the bulletin from the postal department a postal clerk must inform persons mailing perishable articles if the package will be received at the postoffice of destination on a Saturday afternoon, Sunday or holiday. He should then request that the parcel be sent special delivery, informing the sender of the conditions. If the parcel is not sent special delivery it will be delivered anyway with a slip informing the addressee of the charge and requesting that it be paid. Due to the fact that Christmas falls on Sunday this year and Monday is the legal holiday, postal patrons have been asked to conform with the department ruling as it affects both the addressee and the sender.

BUILDING PERMITS FOR PAST WEEK HIT DECLINE

Building permits, both in number and valuation, slumped to a new low level during the week ending Dec. 10, according to the report of John Weiland, city building inspector. One permit was issued to H. Everts, 425 E. Wisconsin-ave, to build a residence and garage to cost $5,500 at 221 E. Circles, and one to Earl Wooden, 715 E. Commercial-st, to erect a garage to cost $500.

Mr. Everts, who started excavation work for his new house Saturday stated that the ground was frozen to a depth of only about three inches despite the recent wet weather and the earth was easily plowed below that depth.

BEGIN HEARING IN MANS LAUGHTER CASE

Neenah — The preliminary hearing in the case of the state vs. Joseph G. Ryan of Chicago, was started at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning in municipal court at Oshkosh. Ryan was arrested on a court degree manslaughter charge following an automobile accident Aug. 29 on Highway 41, in which the car driven by Ryan collided with a car driven by P. T. Denniny of Chicago, and three persons were killed.

Ryan was placed under arrest while he was a patient at Theda Clark hospital. An attempt was made at several times to proceed with the hearing but owing to injuries to material state witnesses which would not permit them to leave hospitals, the case was put off from time to time until the present.

the ice on Lake Poygan. Mr. Marten claimed the rat charged him and despite all efforts to draw it off the ferocious animal did not give up the fight and set its teeth in his thick leather boot. Mr. Marten had with ing to protect himself except a fish-pole, but he managed to get the fish-line wound about the rat, after a 10 minute tussle, and strangled it.

WESTERN COMBINE
PURCHASES CHAIN OF SAXE THEATRES

Moving Pictures Here and at
Neenah Among Big Group
Affected by Purchase

Formation of a gigantic nationwide theatrical enterprise that will be to the amusement business what the United States Steel corporation is to the steel industry may follow the sale of the 44 Saxe theatres in Wisconsin to the Wesco company, a large holding concern. The theatres include those at Appleton and Neenah.

With the Saxe chain as a nucleus, the new interests soon expect to open negotiations for the extensive Kinkelstein and Rubin circuit of theatres throughout Minnesota and the Dakotas and the Skouras brothers chain operating in and around St. Louis.

FORM NEW COMPANY
A new holding company to be known as the Midwesco company has already been formed with a Delaware charter to take over the Saxe theatres and other central western amusement houses that may be acquired later.

All of the stock in the Midwesco company will be owned by the Wesco company which already controls the big West Coast theatrical chain in California as well as several other circuits of lesser importance, giving it complete domination on the coast. It also holds control of the First National Pictures corporation jointly with the Stanley Corporation of America which owns a large system of movie houses in the east.

WOULD CONSOLIDATE

Although negotiations are not formally under way at present, bankers for the Stanley company are working on a plan for consolidating the Wesco properties with those of Stanley which would give the amalgamation a string of theatres extending from coast to coast. The next step in the merger would be to tie up with the $100,000,000 Orpheum-Kielth circuit formed last week by a fusion of Orpheum Circuit, Inc., and the Kielth circuit in the east. The Pathe Producing company would figure in this combine also. The result would be the biggest amusement enterprise in the world occupying a leading position in production, distribution, and exhibition of motion pictures as well as in vaudeville.

DEAL COMPLETED

Arrangements have been completed for acquisition of the entire Saxe chain, John Dillon of Hayden, Stone and Co., New York bankers, disclosed. The transfer is expected to be effected on Dec. 20, when Mr. Dillon returns to Milwaukee from New York.

Although Mr. Dillon declined to discuss details, it is understood that the Saxe brothers will receive close to $1,000,000 of Wesco company stock for their leases, equipment and good will and will go on the board of directors of the Wesco company. Management will be in the hands of the new interests. No change in policy is contemplated, however.

Most of the forty-four Saxe theatres are held under lease. Those properties which are owned in fee will be retained by the Saxe brothers and leased to the Midwesco company for a period of years.

Three theatres in the chain are to be purchased outright by the Wesco company. None of them are in Milwaukee.

The only financing in connection with the transaction will be a $1,250,000 convertible note issue to be floated by the Wesco company in order to provide funds for purchasing the shares of small stockholders in various Saxe enterprises for cash and for various needs in connection with the operation and development of the theatres.

MAKE NO CHANGE

These bonds will be underwritten by Hayden, Stone and company, and placed privately.

Representatives of Hayden, Stone and company and the Wesco company have been in Milwaukee for several weeks working on the deal. Negotiations were carried on with John E. and Thomas Saxe and Oscar Brachman.

The prospective new owners of the 44 Saxe theatres expect to operate them in the same manner that the Saxe brothers have been operating them, Mr. Dillon announced.

"The new owners intend to continue the policies of the Saxes," said Mr. Dillon. "Moving picture theatres will continue to be moving picture theatres, vaudeville theatres will continue to be vaudeville theatres and theatres that show both pictures and vaudeville will continue to do so."

"However, the new owners will not hesitate to change the form of entertainment prevailing at any theatre if it should develop that such a change would be advisable."

The Wisconsin theatres, including those here and in Neenah, will be taken over officially by the new interests on Wednesday, Dec. 21.

HISTORIANS TO SEEK
LA FOLLETTE PAPERS

State Safeguarding Documents Subject to Order of Senator's Widow

Madison—(P)—Wisconsin historians of late years will be aided by the arrangement made by the State Historical society to obtain the use of private business papers, correspondence, journals, etc., of the late Senator Robert M. La Follette.

Many of these papers are already in the Historical library under the arrangement which gives full ownership and control of the papers to Mrs. La Follette, widow of the senator, during her life time. After her death, ownership will pass to the children of Senator and Mrs. La Follette for a ten year period, after which the papers will become the property of the historical society.

In the meantime the state will safeguard these papers subject to the orders of the La Follette family. It is expected that the papers, when assembled, will be arranged in chronological order so that they will be conveniently available to any person whom Mrs. La Follette shall designate.

Considerable amount of the material is still in Washington, but will be brought here soon. The papers, which are now at the library, cover the period of Senator La Follette's active professional career and his governorship.

The society is endeavoring to collect before they are destroyed papers of other prominent Wisconsin political leaders. Attempts are being made to obtain those of the late Senator John C. Spooner, Congressman Joseph W. Babcock, Congressman George C. Hazelton, Henry C. Payne and others.

Papers of Gen. Lucius Farchild, and Colonel William F. Vilas have been

PUBLIC WINS FIRST SKIRMISH

The government and the people have won a great preliminary victory in the railroad valuation controversy in a special federal court composed of three judges setting at St. Louis. The court has unanimously upheld the valuation set upon the St. Louis & O'Fallon railroad by the Interstate Commerce commission. This is a test suit of the railroads of the United States attacking the methods used by the Interstate Commerce commission in valuing their properties for rate making purposes.

The commission has adopted the "prudent investment" theory under which railroads are entitled to rates and earnings only upon whatever money is prudently and reasonably invested in their properties. The railroads on their part insist that valuation should be based on reproduction value or appraisals at prices required to build the rail systems today. The suit did not involve directly the method of valuation, but the question is decided indirectly, the court holding that the amount due the government from the St. Louis & O'Fallon railroad in excess of earnings, under the recapture section of the transportation act, "is not open to attack upon the ground of wrongful valuation."

Under the transportation act the railroads may take 5 per cent of their net earnings as profits and the government is entitled to participate in earnings above this percentage. If the valuation theory advanced by the railroads were accepted, it would add $11,000,000,000 to the valuation fixed by the Interstate Commerce commission and this would, of course, open the way to a heavy increase in freight rates in order to permit the railroads to earn a reasonable return on their investments. Moreover, under the recapture clause of the transportation act, the government claims excess earnings from the railroads of the country aggregating a sum estimated at $400,000,000.

The importance of the case to the people is, therefore, two-fold. It means a large accretion to the public treasury and the protection of consumers against increased living costs that would accompany higher freight rates. It is estimated that rates might have to be increased as much as 18 per cent in the event that the theory of the railroads were sustained. The basis of valuation fixed by the Interstate Commerce commission is not a rigid application of the original cost investment, but is a combination of that and modified reproduction cost. It would seem that the commission's procedure has been just and ethical. Not only does it tend to fix a fair valuation for utilities, which are in a class essentially different from that of private and competitive corporations, but it tends to restrain and hold down the inevitable tendency to railroads and other utilities to overcapitalize their properties.

When we consider the valuations asked by the railroads themselves, those fixed by the Interstate Commerce commission appear to be wholly in the public interest, despite the criticism of radical politicians that the commission was a party to gross over-valuation. The test case originating in Missouri now goes to the supreme court of the United States for final decision.

CHILD LABOR INDIFFERENCE

Although the proposed child labor amendment to the constitution was defeated in the first campaign for ratification, there were few persons, even among its opponents, who regarded that defeat as the end of protection for child laborers. The hope was expressed that state action would be better than federal action and that the backward states would get busy and improve local child labor conditions.

This has not followed. It is said now that there has been a serious decline in interest in the subject among state legislators at any rate. There are public-spirited organizations still fighting for the protection of childhood. There are individuals who still feel real concern about the situation. The latter should give the former financial and audible support, keeping the subject before the public, discussing it where discussion may do some good and in every way showing their determination to achieve this particular bit of social progress.

WAR BUBBLE BURSTS

Another European war bubble has burst without damage. The Polish-Lithuanian controversy which was taken before the League of Nations council has been amicably settled as we predicted it would be and as there was every reason to expect. There was no real possibility of war at any time, yet the news dispatches were filled with threats of an armed conflict between the two countries that might involve Germany, France and Russia, and perhaps other nations. The utter futility and impossibility of such a war was readily apparent, yet sensational news of the most alarming character was scattered throughout Europe and America.

As a matter of fact, Lithuania and Poland should be the best of friends. In all probability their economic and political interests would be best served by a union of their governments. They are both buffer states created by the World war, although their claims to self-government and national and racial freedom are wholly valid. While the justice of the creation of the Danzig corridor is involved in an estimate of the newly formed Polish state, it must also be kept in mind that in order to properly serve its necessities there must be port and water outlets. These requirements could be served through a union of Lithuania and Poland even better than they are served through the establishment of the corridor, which has served Germany geographically.

The comparative ease with which the dispute between Poland and Lithuania was composed at Geneva shows how much foundation there was for the war scare. The world is constantly subjected to these scares. Another one is the Jugo Slav-Albanian situation involving allegedly conflicting interests of France and Italy. These war scares accomplish no useful purposes, but they cannot be prevented. The world should not take them too seriously. It should keep in mind the fact that Europe is in no condition for a big war of any kind and will not be for years to come. In the meantime, some sane statesmanship there should remove differences, potential and actual, that might ultimately threaten European peace.

ECONOMY AGAIN

Economy is surely an overworked word. It took President Coolidge to make it popular and even then Democrats won't subscribe to it publicly. If it had been a Democratic president who tried to run things for less money, then Republicans would have looked on just as disparagingly. Economy, however, does bulk larger and larger in the public eye as a virtue much to be desired, especially as the voter watches administration costs mount sky high all along the line.

For instance, the per capita cost of maintenance and operation of the general departments of the New York city government have more than doubled in the last ten years, according to the department of commerce, which has issued a summary of the financial statistics of the city for the fiscal year ended Dec. 31, 1926. As indicative of the rapid increase in city operating costs, it is cited that the comparative per capita cost in 1917 was $25.64; in 1925 it was $50.27 and increased to $52.90 in 1926. The total payments for maintenance and operation for the fiscal year ended Dec. 31, 1926, were $313,829,106.

This is a stupendous sum and one which will make the average taxpayer sit up and think. What will future costs be, must be the burden of that thought, and the answer is that there is no limit to the expense of government that is not imposed directly by the people or by the occasional officeholder who truly has the welfare of the municipality at heart.

In other words, economy, the much used and despised word, becomes typically Utopian in character and an ideal to be striven for but rarely attained. Yet it is necessary that we keep striving toward it, to the end that our municipal and other public operating expenses be kept at the lowest point commensurate with complete protection, service and safety.

New York's "moder" (moder) is being discussed in the Post. Probably just one thing more to be said to the point.

Remember that the game of the New York City is the game of the New York City. The game of the New York City is the game of the New York City.

The game of the New York City is the game of the New York City. The game of the New York City is the game of the New York City.

Health Talks

Noted Physician and Author

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. IT SEEMS THAT FOLKS ARE CANNY

Periodic sick headache, Migraine, Megrim, Blind staggers.

If you've got it, listen, this time. A few months ago I discussed this common and distressing ailment here and offered as an experiment a line of treatment. I asked for volunteers to try the experiment on themselves for a period of 10 weeks, and then report their results.

A handful of hardy migraine sufferers did try the experiment, and a dozen or two reported the results, and quite the majority seemed rather pleased, some indeed declaring that their attacks had ceased. I then quoted here some of these reports and privately marked the experiment a failure and decided to forget it.

But I reckoned without my host of canny readers. Came trailing along several weeks after the incident was closed, a little note from some one who was more or less delighted with the apparent benefit gained from following out the experimental line of treatment. I printed this note, mainly, I think in a vague desire to justify the experiment. It proved a hundred times as persuasive as my experiment had been, to our canny readers. By George, how they clamored for the full details and directions for the experimental treatment. And I felt peeved about it and coldly declined to revive the experiment. But after a while this uppishness becomes poor consolation, and so I have relented and I'm going to quote here the complete details of the experiment, just as I printed the protocol in this column Monday, May 2, under the title "Migraine Subjects Wanted" (Of the editors didn't revise the title).

"The experiment is three fold, something like a quack doctor's mail order treatment for catarrh or what have you—pills, tonic and salve. Here is the protocol of the experiment:

A—Once, twice or thrice daily, preferably an hour or so after your meals, but at any other time you may find more convenient, you will take a small responsible of any good standard brand of liver oil (not an emulsion or other derivative, but the plain cod liver oil). There are many good reliable cod liver oil preparations or brands on the market.

B—Every day while you are undergoing this experiment you will expose your naked skin or the greater portion directly to sunlight or open daylight if there is no bright sun, but of course without any glass or other covering for the sun to come through, for the ultra-violet influence cannot come through ordinary glass or other coverings, and the ultra-violet influence is essential for the utilization of calcium, and this experiment is intended to determine whether improvement in your calcium metabolism will not relieve or greatly improve your migraine.

C—Every day for the period of the experiment, which should be not less than 10 weeks, you will take as medicine ten grains (10 grains) of calcium chloride or calcium lactate, either dissolved in a glass of water or in powder or tablet washed down with a liberal drink of water. Calcium lactate is perhaps the less disagreeable salt, and this may be had in five grain tablets. As to the calcium you will take every day during the course of the experiment, a tablet or tablet containing one-tenth grain of thyroid substance, which aids the metabolism or utilization of calcium. For this purpose purchase a vial of 100 tablets or tablets of one-tenth grain thyroid of any good American or British make.

If you are unable to carry out item B, a dozen treatments with ultraviolet ray may be substituted—ultraviolet ray, not "violet ray." Progressive physicians everywhere have the ultraviolet equipment.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Answer to L. W.

My dear friend, if all you say is true, then I can assure you that it is a case of no importance and if you'll just forget it, everything's going to be all right. Take my word for this, won't you.

Answer to R. E. G.

No matter who or what the "well known" specialist may be, what he told you is absolutely false. His purpose in telling you such things is purely to frighten you, in order that he may extort money from you. There can be no doubt about this. You have fallen into the clutches of a wretched faker, that's all. You did not need what I have so often said here. No honest, reputable or reliable physician or specialist ever advertises his skill or ability to cure anything or anybody. There is no exception to this.

The Mysterious People

When you write to me be sure to use a name or a title that gives a clue to your identity. Otherwise I'll give up the conundrum and—well, nobody will be pleased. Have a handle on your name; what's the idea in all this mystery?

OUTSIDE!

The BENSON MURDER CASE

by S. S. VAN DINE © CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Vance prevents Markham from arresting Leacock when Pyffe's statements strengthen the case against the captain. Later he discovers that Pyffe had been in Alvin Benson's power because of a check he had forged and that Pyffe had put Paula Banning's jewels with Benson as security. Leacock confesses to the murder but Vance exposes the confession as a lie to shield Miss St. Clair. Vance and Markham call on Miss St. Clair and she tells them she had dined with Benson the evening of the murder.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER XLVI

A shadow darkened Miss St. Clair's face, but her voice remained even.

"I had been losing a lot of money through Mr. Benson's firm and suddenly my intuition told me that he was purposely seeing to it that I did lose, and that he could if he desired, help me to recoup."

She dropped her eyes. "He had been annoying me with his attentions for some time, and I didn't put any despicable scheme past him. I went to his office, and told him quite plainly what I suspected. He replied that if I'd dine with him that night we could talk it over. I knew what his object was, but I was so desperate I decided to go anyway, hoping I might plead with him."

"And how did you happen to mention to Mr. Benson the exact time your little dinner party would terminate?"

She looked at Vance in astonishment, but answered unhesitatingly.

"He said something about—making a gay night of it; and then I told him—very emphatically—that if I were I would leave him sharply at midnight, as was my invariable rule on all parties. 'You see,' she added, 'I study very hard at my singing and going home at midnight, no matter what the occasion, is one of the sacrifices—or rather, restrictions—I impose on myself.'"

"Most commendable and most wise!" commented Vance. "Was this fact generally known among your acquaintances?"

"Oh, yes. It even resulted in my being nicknamed Cinderella."

"Specifically, did Colonel Ostrander and Mr. Pyffe know it?"

"Yes."

Vance thought a moment. "How did you happen to go to tea at Mr. Benson's home the day of the murder, if you were to dine with him that night?"

A flush stained her cheeks.

"There was nothing wrong in that," she declared. "Somehow, after I had left Mr. Benson's office, I revolted against my decision to dine with him and I went to his house—I had gone back to the office first, but he had left—to make a final appeal, and to beg him to release me from my promise. But he laughed the matter off, and after insisting that I have tea, sent me home in a taxicab to dress for dinner. He called for me about half past seven."

"And when you pleaded with him to release you from your promise, you sought to frighten him by recalling Captain Leacock's threat; and he said it was only a bluff."

Again the woman's astonishment was manifest.

"Yes," she murmured.

Vance gave her a soothing smile.

"Colonel Ostrander told me he saw you and Mr. Benson at the Marshelles."

"Yes; and I was terribly ashamed. He knew what Mr. Benson was, and had warned me against him only a few days before."

"It was under the impression the Colonel and Mr. Benson were good friends."

"They were—up to a week ago. But the Colonel lost more money than I did in a stock pool which Mr. Benson engineered recently, and he intimated to me very strongly that Mr. Benson had deliberately misadvised us to his own benefit. He didn't even speak to Mr. Benson that night at the Marshelles."

"What about these rich and precious stones that accompanied your tea with Mr. Benson?"

"Bribes," she answered; and her contemptuous smile was a more eloquent condemnation of Benson than if she had resorted to the bitterest castigation.

"The gentleman sought to turn my head with them. I was offered a string of pearls to wear to dinner; but I declined them. And I was told that if I saw things in the right light—or some such charming phrase—I could have jewels just like them for my very, very own—perhaps even those identical ones, on the twenty-first."

"Of course—the twenty-first," grinned Vance. "Markham, are you listening? On the twenty-first Leander's note falls due, and if it's not paid the jewels are forfeited."

He addressed himself again to Miss St. Clair.

"Did Mr. Benson have the jewels with him at dinner?"

"Oh, no! I think my refusal of the pearls rather discouraged him."

Vance paused looking at her with ingratiating cordiality.

"Tell us now, please, of the gun episode—in your own words as the lawyers say, hoping to entangle you later."

But she evidently feared no entanglement.

"The morning after the murder Captain Leacock came here and said he had gone to Mr. Benson's house about half past twelve with the intention of shooting him. But he had seen Mr. Pyffe outside and, assuming he was calling, had given up the idea and gone home. I feared that Mr. Pyffe had seen him, and I told him it would be safer to bring his pistol to me and to say, if questioned that he'd lost it in France. . . . You see, I really thought he had shot Mr. Benson and was—well, lying like a gentleman to spare my feelings."

"Then, when he took the pistol from me with the purpose of throwing it away altogether, I was even more certain of it."

She smiled faintly at Markham.

"That was why I refused to answer your question. I wanted you to think that maybe I had done it, so you'd not suspect Captain Leacock."

"But he wasn't lying at all," said Vance.

"I know now that he wasn't. And I should have known it before. He'd never have brought the pistol to me if he'd been guilty."

A film came over her eyes.

"And—poor boy!—he confessed because he thought that I was guilty."

"That's precisely the harrowing situation," nodded Vance. "But where did he think you had obtained a weapon?"

"I know many army men—friends of his and of Major Benson's. And last summer at the mountains I did considerable pistol practice for the fun of it. On the idea was reasonable enough."

Vance rose and made a courtly bow.

"You've been most gracious—and most helpful," he said. "I see, Mr. Markham had various theories about the murder. The first, I believe, was that you alone were the Madam Borgias. The second was that you and the Captain did the deed together. The third was that the Captain pulled the trigger a capella. And the legal mind is so exquisitely developed that it can believe in several conflicting theories at the same time."

"The sad thing about the present case is that Mr. Markham still leans toward the belief that both of you are guilty, individually and collectively. I tried to reason with him before coming here; but I failed. Therefore, I insisted upon his hearing from your own charming lips your story of the affair."

He went up to Markham who sat the affair.

glaring at him with lips compressed.

"Well, old chap," he remarked pleasantly, "surely you are not going to persist in your obsession that either Miss St. Clair or Captain Leacock is guilty, what? . . . And won't you relent and unshackle the Captain as I begged you to?"

He extended his arms in a theatrical gesture of supplication.

Markham's wrath was at the breaking-point, but he got up deliberately and, going to the woman, held out his hand.

"Miss St. Clair," he said kindly—and again I was impressed by the bluntness of the man—"I wish to assure you that I have dismissed the idea of your guilt, and also Captain Leacock's, from what Mr. V—" terms my incredibly rigid and unrecapitulative mind. . . . I forgive him, however, because he has saved me from doing you a very grave injustice."

"And I will see that you have your Captain back as soon as the papers can be signed for his release."

As we walked out onto Riverside drive, Markham turned savagely on Vance.

"So! I was keeping her precious

Captain locked up, and you were pleading with me to let him go! You know damned well I didn't think either one of them was guilty—you—you lounge around!"

GUILD PLAY AMONG YEAR'S "TEN BEST"

"The Silver Cord" by Howard Sidney, which will be presented by the Theatre Guild Repertory company of New York at 8:20 Wednesday evening at Lawrence Memorial chapel, was one of the ten plays published in Burns Mantle's Best Plays of 1926-27. It has received equal rating with "Broadway," "The Constant Wife," and "Chicago" by Maurice Watkins. The play is a modern comedy drama possessing a bright and witty dialogue.

Howard Sidney, the author, is a former newspaper man. He was responsible for the exposure of the narcotic situation in one of the leading periodicals in this country several years ago. He was also author of "The Spy" series for another publication.

His first play was "Swords" in which Clara Eames was the leading woman. The play was a failure financially, but a success morally, for soon after he married Miss Eames. Mr. Howard has since written "Lucky Sam McCarver," "They Knew What They Wanted," "No! McCobb's Daughter," and "The Silver Cord." He is at present working on a novel called "Jacob Ely."

Mr. Howard was born in Oakland, Calif. in 1891. He matriculated at the University of California in 1915. He enrolled later in Professor George Pierce Baker's famous 47 Workshop at Harvard.

In its tenth year the Theatre Guild company of New York is sending a repertory company throughout the United States. Thus, this organization which developed from the ambitious Washington Square Players, which began in the old Garrick theatre, outgrew that glamorous playhouse and is now firmly ensconced on Fifty-second-st. New York, with a subscription list of regular attendants miles long. This year it has entered into one of the most important phases of its recent growth its first touring season. Its aim is to make the "road" rehabilitated for the drama.

BIG TAX SAVING BY STATE FOREST LAW

Conservative Director Says Lands Good Only for Tree Growing Nearly Exempt

Madison—(P)—The state conservation department would have more Wisconsin citizens take advantage of the new forestry law, L. D. Nader, state conservation director said today.

"It seems that a great many are not aware of the forestry law which would relieve them of taxes on lands suited only to tree growing," he said, calling the new law "the most progressive and most important piece of legislation enacted in this state in a decade."

Under the law persons owning land suitable for tree growing may designate up to 160 acres of such land as forest and be freed of high agricultural land taxes to pay only a tax of ten cents an acre annually.

"Thus land could be made into a veritable endowment policy," Mr. Nader said. He outlined how forty acres of land, planted to trees and left to prosper, with the only cost being taxes and fire prevention, might mature into a sizeable fortune in forty years at a tax cost of only $140.

The forestry law was passed by the last legislature after the state had voted to amend the constitution so that forest lands might be taxed upon a different basis from agricultural lands.

The conservation department would also like to see much land so planted that selective logging might be car-

For the W. C. T. U. that its members be blessed and be a blessing in all their social service;

For the leaders in the temperance cause that they may have courage and wisdom to meet the strategy of the opponents of prohibition;

CAPTIVATING COSTELLO HERE AS "THE COLLEGE WIDOW" PROVES GENIUS FOR COMEDY

Even Dolores Costello has never been quite so devastating, as she is in "The College Widow," the Warner Bros. production at Fischer's Appleton Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday. We are familiar with Miss Costello's tears, here is her laughter—gay, winning, May time laughter, for the "College Widow" is the daughter of a college president, who, to win money for the institution and to secure her father's job, uses her feminine charm, to recruit a team of pig-skin-kickers which sweeps the school to victory. Forty have fallen for her, and she has fallen for one. The latter discovers her duplicity and there is pandemonium among the hob-nailed heroes, each of which had thought himself her favorite. In the cast are William Collier, Jr., Anders Randolf, Douglas Gerard, Charles Hill Mailes, Robert Ryan, Sumner Getchel, Big Boy Williams, Grace Gordon and Jess Hlibba. Archie Mayo directed. Jolliest college comedy ever written. Loveliest star of the screen. Therefore go.

Defeated teams in the opening games of the Appleton Industrial Commercial Basketball League, held last week, met in the first games of the second week's play Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A., while the four winners of last week clash in Saturday evening battles. Because of this schedule, by next Sunday only two teams of the loop, probably the Coated Paper Co., a favorite in this year's race, and Fox River Paper Co., last year's champs, will still have 1,000 per cent marks. Four teams will be tied for third place, just a game behind the leaders and they probably will be the Kimberly-Clark cagers, the Weber Cozy Knits, the Citizens Bank and the Kaukauna Mulford's. The Kaukauna Y and Co. D probably will be in the cellar position.

CITIZENS VS FOX RIVER

The best game of the week will bring together the Citizens Bank and the Fox River Papers, rivals of three years standing, on Saturday night with the Rivermen favored provided they play the brand of ball they did in defeating the Webers 32-30 Saturday. However, it is admitted that the Papermakers were "on" completely on, while the Bankers, though winning 18-9 from the Kaukauna Y and allowing that team only two baskets, were far "off". A reversal of the conditions would give the Bankers a win and even if both the Bankers and Fox River crews are on, the going will be tough for the Bankers, though they should squeeze out a win with their usual breaks.

Tuesday evening the Weber Knits are favored to trip the crippled Kaw Cubs, if the Weber team shows the surprising strength it exhibited in its first game with the Fox Rivermen last Saturday when it rushed the Papermakers off their feet but lost when the Bankers sunk long shot after long shot. In the other game the Kimberly-Clark basketballers, who lost an overtime struggle to the classy Coated Papers last week, are easy favorites over a weak Co. D squad which displayed little more than hard fight last week. However, stranger things have happened in basketball. The Cubs are more likely to upset the dope than the Guardians.

In the other game Saturday evening the Coated Men are favored over the Kaukauna Mulford's. The Coateds beat a speedy, sharpshooting Kimberly team last week; while the Mulford's were held even for part of the game by Co. D before improving slightly to win.

BARRY TEACHES IOWA SYSTEM TO COACHES

Iowa City—Basketball of the style which has brought the Hawkeyes shares of two Western conference titles will be taught to high school coaches of the middle west during a short term course at the University of Iowa.

Justin M. Barry, now in his sixth year as head coach of the sport at the State University, will be the professor. The dates are Dec. 27, 28, 29 and 30, and the division of physical education, under direction of P. E. Belting, is sponsoring the course.

Some 700 coaches of high school teams in Iowa and surrounding states will soon receive announcements and invitations from the university.

No fundamentals, only advanced basketball, will be taught by Coach Barry and his first assistant, Rollie Wilkins, former all-conference guard from Wisconsin.

Using the Hawkeye varsity team, entering the days of preparation for the Big Ten race, as demonstrator, Coach Barry will present offensive and defensive formations around which the younger coach may build his play.

Classes will probably be held twice daily since the varsity squad will drill both mornings and afternoons on the field house court. It is the first time that such a course has been planned by Iowa athletic officials.

EIGHT LETTERMEN BACK FOR SUPERIOR QUINTET

Superior—Eight lettermen have returned to Superior Normal this year, brightening the Teacher's chances for a high ranking in the state conference. Besides these eight men, Coach J. J. Tubbs has 10 men who have shown up with unusual promises and twenty others who are expected to develop into good material. Twenty-two games have been scheduled this year.

The lettermen are Captain Clarence Jelemeau and former captain Stanley Nadolski, both of Superior; Harvey Green of St. Paul, Minn.; Ray Clatterson of Fairchild; Ken Pepper of St. Croix Falls; William Dolan of Superior and Ray Peterson of Duluth, Minn.

The new men are Mesnick, of Gilbert, Minn.; Cook of Duluth, Minn.; Horyza, Sanrick and Carlson of Superior; Johnson of Duluth and Roome, A. Nadolski and Jule of Superior.

WALSH PREPARES FOR LOS ANGELES TOURNEY

Frank Walsh, professional of the Butte des Morts country club, is at present in Hollywood, Calif., where he is working for the Los Angeles open golf tourney early in January. The greatest stars of the nation including Walter Hagen, Tommy Armour, Johnny Farrell and Al Watroust, all of whom have played on the local course, will take part in the meet. It will be the first winter meet of any importance for Frank. The local golfer did well in the Los Angeles meet last year to start a successful season in the south and west. His best work was in the North and South open in which he placed second.

Chicago—Babe Ruth, Louisville, defeated Eddie Shea, Chicago (10).

DILWEG, LEWELLEN ON ALL-AMERICAN PRO TEAM

Two members of the Green Bay Packers professional football team have been chosen for the all-American professional grid squad picked by a Chicago newspaper. The players are Lewellen, halfback from the University of Nebraska, and Dilweg, end from Marquette. It was the second successive year that the Nebraska star was chosen for the honor because of his great punting and line bucking. Dilweg won the honor in his first year of pro ball largely for his pass receiving and his defensive work which was easily superior to any end in the pro league.

In the back field with Lanky Lew are Benny Friedman, quarter; McBride, fullback, and Paddy Driscoll, halfback. Friedman, former Michigan star, is the most brilliant performer of the Cleveland Bulldogs; McBride plunging was a big factor of the New York Giants pro loop championship battle which lost them only two games of ten. Driscoll is the big star of the Chicago Bears, who will finish second or third this season.

New York—Clyde Hull, Dallas, won over Farmer Joe Cooper, Terre Haute (10).

Philadelphia—Lew Tendler, Philadelphia, defeated Hilario Martinez, Spain (10). Rene De Vos, Belgium, won from Eddie Dempsey, Philadelphia (10).

Boston—Al Mello, Lowell, Mass., outpointed Jack Malone, St. Paul (10).

Cumberland, Md.—Willey Plomey, all-service middleweight champion, Washington, D. C., knocked out Frankie Theodore, Philadelphia (3).

Johnstown, Pa.—Danny Cooney, Trenton, N. J., and Dory Shimar, Williamsport, Pa., drew (10).

COMPILE DAIRY HERD PRODUCTION RECORDS, EXPERT URGES

BETTER RETURNS WHERE ADVANCED REGISTRY IS MADE

History of Work in Wisconsin from 1890 to Present Is Traced

Madison—(P)—Now is the best time of year to compile semi-official records of dairy herd production, and perhaps the better cows for official seven-day tests, according to Roy T. Harris, supervisor of Wisconsin Dairy Tests at the College of Agriculture.

Advanced registry records are again in demand, he says, and the breeder may expect more satisfactory returns for the time and money invested in making such records.

The keeping of dairy-cow records began in Wisconsin shortly after the advent of the Babcock milk test in 1890. Mr. Harris says, but did not become the general practice until about 1910.

In the ten years between 1910 and 1920 the keeping of records became so popular that 100 official testists were kept busy conducting the seven-day tests on dairy farms throughout the state.

SEE NEED FOR RECORD

Farmers began to place more emphasis on production records and less emphasis on form or appearance of cattle. With the economic depression of 1919 and 1920 record-keeping lost its popularity or vogue, until today 25 official testists are able to meet the demand. Mr. Harris says that the tendency now, however, is again to place greater value upon records, though in a safer manner.

The value of production records, he believes, lies chiefly in the fact that buyers of dairy cattle are enabled to know the producing qualities of the stock they are purchasing. In an inspection not only of the records but of the records of their sires and dams and offspring.

The official advanced registry records are compiled by official testists who visit the dairy farms for seven-day periods and keep accurate check on milk production by the cows which the owner wants tested.

"Breeders should give their best cows as favorable conditions for making their records as possible," Mr. Harris says. "To do her best, a cow must have clean quarters with plenty of fresh air. She should be made comfortable, with plenty of room in her stall, well-bedded, and protected from cold drafts."

CHEESE PRICES IN UPWARD MOVEMENT

Butter Market Firm, Hogs Show Greater Receipts and Decline in Price

Madison—(P)—The past week showed a tendency toward higher asking prices on cheese, while the butter market held firm, according to the weekly review of the state department of markets.

Supplies of fancy butter were limited, and an increasing use of storage butter was reported. At the close of the week, prices advanced on all grades as a result of light supplies, good demand and cold weather. The price on butter was 14 cents lower than last year at this time according to the review.

Jobbing trade in cheese is reported fair, with stocks light. Buyers, however, confined their activities to current requirements. Receipts reported at Wisconsin warehouses during the week ending Dec. 2 declined 535,359, the review says. Cheese prices are quoted as 2 cents higher than a year ago.

Increased receipts and somewhat lower prices featured the hog market during the past week, the weekly review says. "Towards the close of the week supplies decreased because of inclement weather and an improvement in price levels is expected. A tendency to resist any advance in prices is reported. The majority of good and choice hogs closed 10 to 15 cents lower as compared with the previous week, while pigs closed 15 to 25 cents higher. The average price of hogs at Chicago dropped to $3.35 on the low day, which was probably the lowest for any mid-week session in more than three years. Hog prices are about $2.00 lower than last year at this time."

SHEEP PRICES HIGHER

Cattle prices are about $2.35, and sheep prices about 55 cents higher than last year at this time, according to the department of markets.

Several fractional price advances on butter took place, particularly on top grades the review says. The supplies of fancy butter were limited, while supplies of medium and undergrade, although not excessive, were adequate for the limited demand. The centralized market was fair throughout the week, with considerable activity in

Many Farmers Pack Own Ice For Use In Summer

BY W. F. WINSEY
Special Farm Writer

For preserving foods and for cooling milk and cream, a large number of farmers in this vicinity who have access to lakes, rivers, or ponds natural or constructed for the purpose, have been storing a supply of ice each winter for use, and will soon be engaged in that work again. The ice is packed in blocks of 100 pounds each, and is stored in a place where it will not melt. The ice is used for a variety of purposes, such as for cooling milk and cream, for preserving foods, and for other uses. DISCUSSES VALUE OF SPRAYING RINGS

Plant Health Specialist Points to Advantage of Proper Care for Orchard

BY W. F. WINSEY
Special Farm Writer

In his talks at farmers' institutes throughout Wisconsin on Spraying a Farm Orchard for Quality Fruit, R. E. Vaughn, plant health specialist of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, is recommending timeliness and thoroughness of spray applications on apple trees, and careful intelligent pruning.

He lists the kinds of sprays to use, the time of application and the purpose of each spray. For economy and thoroughness of spraying, Mr. Vaughn urges farmers to form or join a spray ring. He calls the attention of his audience to the profits made by ten farmers in ten small farm orchards over and above the cost of pruning, fertilizing and spraying. He quotes one of a number of letters he has received from farmers who have had experience in the lines that he is urging others to try.

In his talks, Mr. Vaughn says in part:

"Spraying a farm orchard for quality fruit is a matter of timeliness and thoroughness of spray application. Lime sulphur, one gallon to forty gallons of water to which is added one pound of arsenate of lead, makes the most satisfactory spray."

"Spraying in time is very important. When the green tips of the sepals are exposed is the time for a delayed, dormant spray. The closed cluster spray is applied before the buds separate. This is followed by the open cluster or pink spray. The later sprays are applied just after the petals fall, ten days later and about eight weeks later in the case of winter varieties. The timing of the early sprays is primarily for the control of apple scab while that of the later spray is for the particular control of the apple worm or codling moth."

APPLY BEFORE RAIN
"Applications of spray should be put on just before a rain for the reason that rain stimulates the apple scab fungus in the dead leaves to shoot quantities of spores into the air to be blown onto the developing buds. It is possible to get much valuable information on rains by paying attention to weather reports that are sent out daily by telephone and radio. "In seasons when there are numerous spring rains during the bud and blossom time wet sprays have usually given best results. Dusts have the advantage of permitting rapid application over a large number of trees. The cost of dust is, however, somewhat more than wet spray."

"The best way to secure good results in spraying the farm orchard is to form or join a spray ring. Then the spray leader is responsible for getting the right spray applied thoroughly and on time. Others are doing it. Why not you?"

25 COUNTIES NOW ACCREDITED AREAS

"Modified Accredited" Rating Will Be Given to Others in Wisconsin

Madison—(P)—Twenty-five Wisconsin counties are now rated "modified accredited," by the state department of agriculture under its area testing plan for the eradication of bovine tuberculosis. Such rating indicates that there is less than one-half of 1 per cent tubercular infection among the dairy cattle of the country.

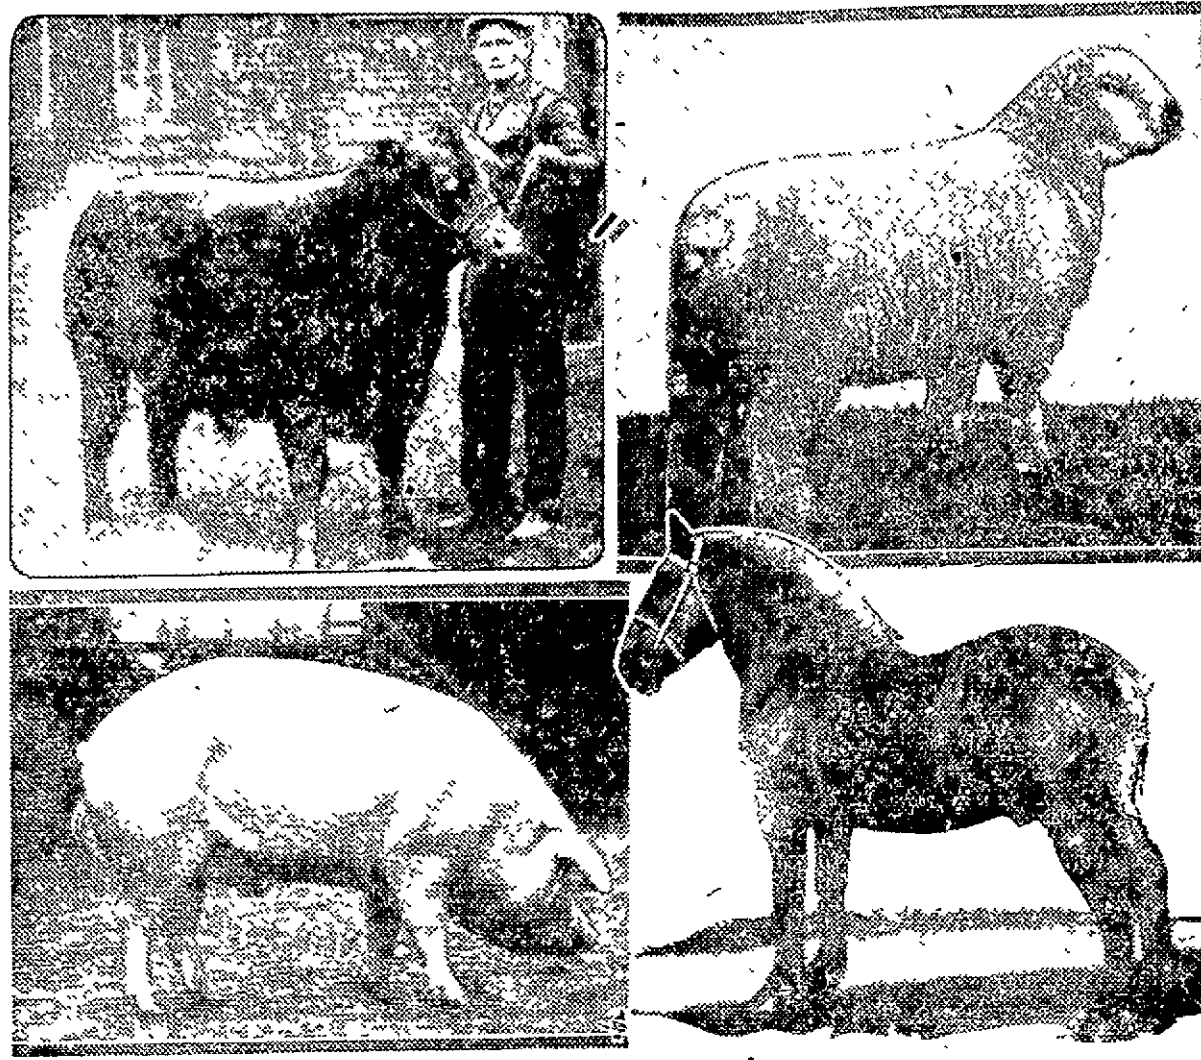

A county which is declared a modified accredited area not only has an advantage in the sale of milk and dairy cows, according to the department, but its farmers receive 10 cents more per hundred pounds for hogs from packers than do farmers of accredited areas, 14 new names have been added.

The 14 counties which were accredited by July 1 are: Douglas, Bayfield, Ashland, Iron, Sawyer, Price, Oneida, Forest, Barron, Eau Claire, Waupaca. The 14 which have been added since that date are: Vilas, Washburn, Rusk, Dunn, Chippewa, Taylor, Lincoln, Clark, Marathon, Jackson, Wood, Portage, La Crosse and Monroe.

Representatives of the department of agriculture are now conducting tests in herds in Walworth and Kenosha counties. Counties in which tests have been completed, but which the department has not yet graded as "modified accredited," are: Florence, Burnett, Polk, St. Croix, Shawano, Door, Brown, Pepin, Buffalo, Trempealeau, Outagamie, Juneau, Adams, Green Lake, Winnebago, Fond du Lac, Richmond, Sauk, Washington, Ozaukee, Dane, Milwaukee, Waukesha, Jefferson and Rock.

Citizens of Oconto are working now to obtain sufficient signatures to request that a county-wide test be made, according to the department of agriculture.

The livestock world hails a new dynasty of champions, crowned at the international exposition in Chicago. From California comes California Stamp (upper left), grand champion steer, from North Dakota the Shropshire (upper right) made grand champion wether; from Iowa the Chester White (lower left) crowned grand champion barrow and from Ohio the Percheron stallion Don Degas (lower right) grand champion of his class.

Chicago—(P)—The North Dakota Agricultural lots of the midwest rode to new triumphs at the 1921 International Livestock Exposition. Royalty that rides in box cars, crowned at the show, came mostly from the central section of the country.

Don Degas, owned by G. A. Dix of Delaware, Ohio, was crowned grand champion Percheron stallion. The grand champion barrow, over all breeds, was a Chester White owned by Albert Stewart of Newhall, Iowa, and Iowa was high winner of total awards.

College took away the honors for grand champion Shropshire wether, over all breeds. One of the major honors went to the far west. California Stamp, shown by the University of California, was acclaimed grand champion steer.

High Price Of Corn Hits Farmer In Raising Pork

BY W. F. WINSEY
Special Farm Writer

Owing to the low prices of pork and the scarcity and high price of corn, breeders in this vicinity are positive that their usual margin of profit derived from fattening fall litters will be cut down this winter to zero if not below that point. But even with that the breeder who has hogs is compelled to get them in some form for the market as it is and to do this he is using barley in the place of corn, chopped alfalfa and skim milk. There is probably no question about barley being the equal of corn as feed for fattening hogs, pound for pound. It is certain that the cheapest balanced ration is one which is raised on the farm.

If skim milk and barley are lacking on the farm, dry skim milk and corn may be used in their stead in the following proportions: weanling pigs, at the rate of one pound of dry skim milk to each two or three pounds of corn, pigs weighing 50 to 100 pounds one pound of dry skim milk to six pounds of corn; pigs weighing from 100 to 150 pounds, one pound of dry skim milk to eight pounds of corn, pigs weighing from 150 to 200 pounds, one pound of dry skim milk to ten pounds of corn, pigs weighing 200 pounds or over, one pound of dry skim milk to 12 pounds of corn.

These skim milk solids include the milk proteins, which are the best form of animal protein for producing flesh and muscle tissue, milk minerals which grow strong bones and milk sugar which supplies energy and helps in the digestion of the feed. The 14 counties which were accredited by July 1 are: Douglas, Bayfield, Ashland, Iron, Sawyer, Price, Oneida, Forest, Barron, Eau Claire, Waupaca. The 14 which have been added since that date are: Vilas, Washburn, Rusk, Dunn, Chippewa, Taylor, Lincoln, Clark, Marathon, Jackson, Wood, Portage, La Crosse and Monroe.

JACK LOCKWILL BACK AT ROCKLAKE

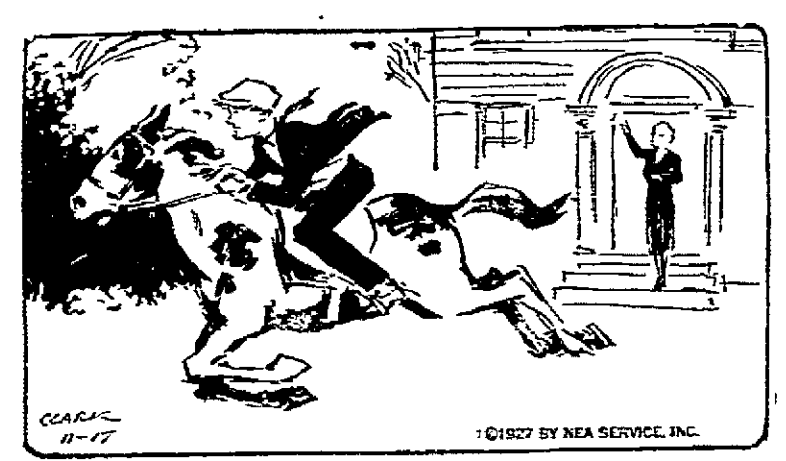

The coming contest between the two freshman teams aroused no small interest in the school. "You were a sucker when you agreed to it, Jack," declared Willie Darling. "Hargon's got the best players. He'll lick you, and become captain." "Maybe not," returned Jack. ... Late Saturday forenoon Betty Darling burst into her brother's room in great excitement.

"Where's Jack?" she cried. "He's gone home," answered Willie. "He got a telegram from the family doctor to come instantly. His mother is critically ill."

"Oh, it was a mean trick to get him out of the game today and beat his team!" exclaimed Betty. "Jane Hargon told me. She's indignant. That telegram was a fake!"

One hundred and fifty miles away, Jack Lockwill had just met his mother, who appeared quite well. He learned from her that the doctor hadn't sent the telegram, and he saw through the detestable stratagem of his enemies at once. "In less than three hours the game begins at Rocklake," he said. A little later, astride his pony, Dynamite, he galloped madly away. (To Be Continued)

LITTLE JOE

THE NUT CRACKER

He waited for the street car In the bitter cold and sleet; Then missed it 'cause he found his shoes Were frozen to the street.

"Is mud upon your shoes?" Mon cried, As in the house he tore. And when the kid said, "No," 'twas right The mud was on the floor.

CALLS BRIDGE GAME
MENTAL STIMULANT

Good Player Depends on Cards He Holds, Tournament Player Declares

Madison—(P)—The game of auction bridge is both a mental stimulus and relaxation for keen minds. This is the opinion of Mrs. J. H. Nelson, Madison, who has been referred to by Milton C. Work, New York, as "one of the leading bridge teachers of the country."

Mrs. Nelson, with Mrs. Cecile Weaver of Madison as her partner, took part in the first tournament of the Auction Bridge League of America, held recently in Chicago. Bridge tournaments are an old story to Mrs. Nelson, who has played in bridge whist tournaments twice in Cleveland, twice in Chicago, in Clear Lake, Iowa, and who expects to play in the tourney of the Northwestern Auction Bridge League in Minneapolis in January. The next meeting of the Auction Bridge League of America is scheduled in October.

The recent Chicago tournament, the first national competition held in America, presented a spectacle of hundreds of bridge players from all over the country playing at the same time in a hotel ballroom for three days, with many interested spectators looking on. Most of the entrants were men, Mrs. Nelson says, as the Auction Bridge League permits women to become only associate members.

Among the nationally known bridge players participating were Milton C. Work, Wilbur S. Whitehead, R. F. Foster, and Ely Culbertson, all of New York. Famous women experts with whom Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Weaver completed were Mrs. E. Culbertson, New York; Mrs. Virginia Campbell, Des Moines, and Mrs. A. J. Pelette, Milwaukee.

Though bridge has been called the solace of old men, according to Mrs. Nelson, she noticed that many of the contestants were young men, who took even a keener interest in their playing than the older ones.

"Auction bridge is not a game which one can play and keep his mind on who went to Fond du Lac on Wednesday to see their wives who are recovering from throat operations in St. Agnes hospital, were storm bound when enroute home on Thursday at the Schroeder farm near Greenville and were obliged to remain there 24 hours and then leave their auto and come to Royalton by train.

Frances Krause first on a 50-ear sample, Walter Braun second on a 10-ear sample and Malcolm Woodard first on a 10-ear sample and third on a 50-ear exhibit.

Henry Friheart is in the hospital at Manawa recovering from an operation.

Mrs. Annie Smiley of the state of Washington, is making an extended visit at the home of her son on the old Smiley farm near Northport.

The Hobart school Monday afternoon gave a demonstration program of some of the work covered in the eight grades during the past quarter.

business, small talk or other outside matters," Mrs. Nelson says. "It demands of the player his undivided attention. The only relaxation it offers is freeing the mind from worries of the moment. There is but little of the element of luck involved in the game; the good player does not depend upon holding good cards, but upon playing well the cards he draws, whether they be good or bad."

PICK JUNE 4 AND 5 AS DATES FOR NEXT LIONS CONFERENCE

District Board of Governors Confers With Local Club on Convention Plans

The next annual convention of the Twenty-seventh district of Lions clubs will be held in Appleton on June 4 and 5. It was decided Monday afternoon at a conference of the district board of governors with directors of the local club.

Several past presidents of the local club, presidents of other Fox river valley clubs and George Anderson, Chicago, assistant secretary of Lions International, also attended the meeting.

Responses from the entire state indicate that the convention will be the largest ever held, with local directors reported to the board of governors. Most of the clubs of central Wisconsin and Wausau and Superior will have almost 100 percent attendance and Milwaukee expects to send 40 delegates. The local directors estimated the minimum attendance at 800.

Because of the large numbers expected here the biggest problem confronting the local club is securing a large enough hall for all delegates for the final banquet, the report showed. Suggestions for speakers at the conference were made but the action on the speakers was left for a later meeting.

Plans also were made for the international convention of Lions at Des Moines, Iowa, in 1928. Wisconsin clubs will assemble at Madison in automobiles and will drive to Des Moines for the meetings, forming a long Badger state motorcade.

District officers present at the meeting here Monday were Giles Putnam, New London, district governor; G. W. Bannerman, Wausau, deputy district governor; R. E. S. Weber, Manitowish, deputy district governor; L. M. Wright, secretary and treasurer; Ralph Morse, past president of Janesville club, and C. F. Hertlein, president of the Superior club. R. H. Hauko, secretary of the Milwaukee club, Mr. Weber presided at the meeting.

Harold Foth was elected president of the Young People's society of First English Lutheran church at the meeting Monday evening at the church. Rudolph Gauerke was elected vice president; Eva Mossholder, recording secretary; Mrs. Floyd Foot, financial secretary and Ramona Husemann, treasurer. Standing committees for the year will be appointed at the next meeting of the society. A report on the national convention held at Toledo, Ohio was given by Floyd Foot.

Plans were made for a Christmas party to be held Wednesday night, Dec. 21, for members of the society and their friends. Committees were appointed to arrange for the party. Miss Mildred Albrecht was appointed chairman of the entertainment and program committee and will be assisted by Mrs. M. C. Kranszuch, Wilma Weidman, Ramona Husemann and Eva Mossholder. The refreshment committee consists of Miss Gertrude Schults, Miss Dorothy Block, Miss Mable Kranszuch, Howard Sark and Lother Elert.

Persons who do not sign for the entire season, however, are urged to come when it is convenient for them to attend. The minimum number of swimmers each week has been set at 100 persons.

PUBLIC SPEAKING CLASS
HALF FILLED IN 1ST HOUR

Proof that Appleton business and professional men are interested in improving their public speaking ability is contained in the number of responses to letters announcing the public speaking course, which will be sponsored by the chamber of commerce and the Y. M. C. A., and will start in January. The announcements and registration cards were received Tuesday morning by local citizens and thirteen had registered by Tuesday noon, with six others ready to enroll when they had arranged their time so that they could be present on class nights.

As the class is limited to 25 members more than half had been enrolled with in a half day after registration cards were received and almost all had been enrolled by late Tuesday afternoon. Because of the limit on membership in the course, local business and professional men who desire to join are urged by Hugh G. Corbett, chamber secretary, to get their registrations in immediately or take a chance on missing the work.

MAYOR WISHES MAN-SIZED JOB ON SANTA CLAUS

Members of Religious Day Classes to Hold Exercises in Schools of City

Santa Claus will have a man's sized job on his hands if he fulfills the wish of Mayor A. C. Rule in bringing a present for the city on Christmas day.

Mayor Rule made few requests but these he did are ones that have stumped city officials for some time. Much the same as a boy would place the wish for a pair of skates ahead of everything else so has the mayor placed a request for a reduction in taxes at the head of his list.

Now, lower taxes would be appreciated by all and it is the hope of the city administrators to lower them that also comes foremost in their plans when they take office. But Mayor Rule would like to see them placed at $25 per $1,000 in stead of $35 as the present roll calls for so you can easily see that Santa will have his hands full in complying with the request.

Besides the one wish he would like to see a satisfactory settlement of the present viaduct plans, a new Oneida-st bridge and the establishment of a municipal airport.

to elope and would return in a few days and announce their marriage.

Jackson, or Roberts, called that evening and did not get out of his machine, and May Belle left with him. She did not return and nothing was heard from her for ten days when the Appleton State bank, where Miss Diehl had a savings account, notified her parents that they had received a letter, presumably from the girl, asking that her savings account be forwarded. The parents were suspicious and refused to sanction the withdrawal and nothing more was heard from the girl until Oct. 5, when the bank received a telegram, signed by Miss Diehl, at Ogallala, Neb. It asked that her money be forwarded and stated a letter would follow.

QUESTION HANDWRITING

The next day the bank received a letter in which the girl's bank book was enclosed. The parents questioned the handwriting and then nothing further was heard from Miss Diehl.

The parents secured a warrant for Robert's arrest on a statutory charge. The warrant was issued by John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney for Outagamie county, and signed by Municipal Judge Theodore Berg.

The couple was traced by Sheriff Otto Zuehlke of this county to Menasha where Miss Diehl stayed at the home of Carl Diehl, a cousin, on the night she disappeared. Roberts called for her next morning when the couple went to Waupaca. Sheriff Zuehlke traced them to Kansas City where the trail was lost. Roberts did not stay with his wife at Menasha on the night he took Miss Diehl from her home.

PLACE SIGNS TO STOP
S. SUPERIOR-ST DUMPING

The first move to prevent dumping in the ravine at the foot of S. Superior-st was taken this morning when Robert's father, city street commissioner, posted signs notifying persons that dumping was prohibited. The matter was brought up at the recent meeting of the city council and the signs ordered placed after a committee had been appointed to draw plans for the beautifying of the place or making other disposal of it.

No trustee was appointed at the first meeting of creditors of Ernest Lutsey, 708 N. Eastman-st, Monday afternoon at the office of C. E. Behnke, referee in bankruptcy. Mr. Lutsey had listed his assets at $300, all of which he claimed as exempt, and his claim was allowed. His liabilities were listed at $401.45.

101 KILLED BY AUTOS

Madison—(AP)—Deaths resulting from automobile accidents in Milwaukee during 1926 numbered 101, a decrease of one from the year before. At least 10 of these deaths, however, resulted from accidents outside of the city.

The rate per 100,000 population was 19.5 which is much different than that of Chicago, which was 27.7. Camden, N. J., with 15.1 led, while Albany, N. Y., with 45.1, and Detroit with 54.9 trailed not far behind New Bedford had the lowest rate with only 9.2.

Miss Alice Gilson left Monday evening for Lake City, Minn., where she was called because of the illness of her sister, Mrs. William Morse.

Santa Claus Coming To Visit Appleton Children

Members of Religious Day Classes to Hold Exercises in Schools of City

SANTA CLAUS is coming to Appleton in person, and will arrive from the north about 4:30 Thursday afternoon. After his arrival he will pass down College-ave the Soldiers square and distribute candy to all children who congregate there.

They say that Santa is a bit putout that more Appleton youngsters are not writing to him in care of radio station WAIZ. The old fellow has been telling stories about his workshop every evening between 5:30 and 6 o'clock from the station and reads the name of all youngsters who have written to him. However he may be feeling all right Thursday when he gets here and if Appleton youngsters give him a wonderful reception he'll forget about the letters.

After Thursday's visit Santa plans to return to his home at the North Pole and will spend the last few days preparing his Christmas gifts. He will continue to broadcast, however, at the same time each evening and always over WAIZ. Appleton youngsters should tune in on his talks every evening and then when they have found out what they want this year should sit down and write the old man a letter. When he receives it, he'll acknowledge by announcing the name of the writer over radio.
